This series of stylish curtain track products have been formed into a square shape with decorated accent lines of silver. Four types of six-color woodgrain finals at both track ends are also decorated with silver lines, providing them with a neat impression and a premium texture. The fluororesin treatment of the silent runner and track surfaces has successfully achieved high-level sliding performance and silent running.

For each of these rods, consumers can take their choice of two color variations of silver and gold, both being abound in high-quality image.
